Success is in full swing with Golf To Business Team-Building Workshops

Introducing performance seminars where the game of golf becomes all-business.

Golf and business just naturally go together — with good reason. The way you play and practice golf mirrors the way you learn and perform in business. So instead of using tired academic exercises and case studies in our seminars, Golf To Business relies on more practical tools: woods and irons.

Simply put, our experts observe how your people approach the game of golf — and translate that to specific behaviors that can improve teamwork and maximize success. Yet Golf To Business isn't just for golfers: everyone in your group, even people who have never swung a club, will enjoy and learn from our unique seminars.

"Performance seminars where the game of golf becomes all business."

In one exciting, challenging day, your people will learn:

- Inventive goal-setting techniques
- New ways to visualize growth targets
- Maximizing business performance styles
- Important mental aspects of success
- Positive approaches to risk-taking
- Dimensions of more effective teamwork

At a Golf To Business Workshop, we:

- Gather information about your business and your people
- Design an individualized workshop based on your employees' profiles
- Lead a series of contests and exercises where your people learn as they have fun
- Guide a group discussion that identifies opportunities for change and promotes new behaviors
